

"GENTLEMAN," HELD AS WIFE-BEATER, CALLS HIS ARREST AN "OUTRAGE"

"My Income Is $5,000 Per Year," Declares John C. Morton as Part of Amazing Plea—Magistrate Scores Him.

John C. Morton was indignant when arraigned in Harlem Court today charged with beating his wife so thoroughly that she was unable to appear in court against him.

"This is an outrage," he said. "I am a gentleman. Your Honor, a gentleman, with an income of $5,000."

Magistrate Zeller was amazed. When he had satisfied himself that Morton was in earnest he said:

"Gentleman, eh? Well, that gives you no more right to assault your wife than if you were a common tramp. In fact, a 'gentleman' who beats his wife is more to be blamed than a man who has not had the advantages of a 'gentleman' with an income of $5,000 a year."

The story of the alleged assault was told by Policeman Henner, of the West One Hundred and Fifty-second street station. He said he was passing Morton's home at No. 64 West One Hundred and Fifty-eighth street yesterday afternoon, when a maid in a white cap and apron ran down the steps crying that her master was killing his wife.

Henner ran into the house and, declares, found Morton using Mrs. Morton in a manner an ordinary citizen uses a door mat. A little boy, about seven years old, the child of the couple, crouched in a corner of the room, almost hysterical from fright.

Henner arrested Morton and took him to the station-house, where he protested that he was "a gentleman with an income of $5,000 a year" to such good effect that the sergeant released him on station-house bail. Policeman Henner preferred a charge of assault.

After the status of Morton had been settled to the satisfaction of himself and the Magistrate in the Court 40 days, the wife was called for.

Henner presented a physician's certificate stating that she was confined to her bed. Just then the maid who had summoned Henner came to court and asked for a conference with the Magistrate.

She said that for the sake of her little boy Mrs. Morton desired to drop the case against her husband. Magistrate Zeller would not hear of it.

"Because the accused is a 'gentleman,'" said the Magistrate. "I suppose he thinks that his case should be conducted differently from other wife-beating cases. In this he is mistaken. On next Wednesday morning I shall call for his wife to appear against him in this court, and if she is not here I purpose taking steps to bring her here."

Morton was released on $500 bail. He is said to be a retired merchant, and gave his age as forty-six years.

AT LAW OVER A $309 ESTATE.

Salary Due Deputy Auditor James H. Southworth from the City Causes Trouble.

The Public Administrator is having as much trouble settling the $309 estate of a politician as he would in disposing of the estate of a millionaire.

James H. Southworth died last October, a week after the death of his wife. Southworth had been a member of the Assembly from the Thirtieth District for three terms and at the time of his death he was Deputy Auditor in the office of the Comptroller, an appointment secured for him by John O. Sheehan, whose law partner he had been for a short time ten years ago.

When he died the city owed him $309 for salary. He was not known to have had any children, but a girl lived with him and his wife and now the girl, under the name of Eleanor D. Southworth, claims to have been adopted by Southworth and has filed a claim for the $309.

Mrs. Alice M. Ladd, of No. 148 West One Hundred and Twenty-fourth street, is a sister of Southworth. She has just heard of her brother's death and not believing that Eleanor was adopted has put in a claim for the unpaid salary. Her claim is accompanied by those of two other sisters.

Mrs. Ladd says that she was never notified of her brother's death and of course could not go to the funeral. She only heard of the death a few days ago through a mutual friend, who announced the matter casually.

Now comes a money-lender, and he files a lien against the estate of $309 for $12 for borrowed money.

Southworth was a well-known politician who was in the habit of spending all he made. He was popular in the Thirtieth District as a Tammany man, and during the three terms he served in the Legislature he backed the Tammany measures. Always a friend of Sheehan's, he left Tammany when Sheehan took his leave of the city. The friendship Sheehan secured for him the appointment of Deputy Auditor in the Comptroller's office.

"MASKED WOMAN" MADAME DE GAST?

Lawyer Says Famous Woman Automobilist of Paris Was Model for Celebrated Painting by Gervex.

PARIS, July 10.—An incident in the law courts is causing some stir here. A wealthy widow, Mme. De Gast, well known on account of her automobile exploits, being the only female competitor in the Paris-Berlin race and who entered for the Paris-Vienne contest, was recently the plaintiff in a civil action.

The defendant's counsel was Maître Barbois. During the hearing he produced a photograph of a picture called "The Masked Woman," by Gervex, exhibited at the Salon of 1886, representing a nude female, the face alone being concealed by a mask. Mme. de Gast, who is now brought on as a witness, declared that Mme. de Gast had served as the model. Mme. de Gast made an indignant denial and demanded retrial. M. Barbois took no notice of her demand and Mme. de Gast has now brought an action against him, in which, eventually, he himself was wounded.

CHURCH FACTIONS IN HOT DISPUTE.

Case of Princess Rospiro Causes Great Stir at Rome—Husband Is Making Active Fight.

ROME, July 10.—Such a stir has been created by the action of Cardinal Machi, the Secretary of Apostolic Briefs, in forbidding an English Blue Sister to attend Princess Josephine Rospiro, formerly Mrs. Marie Jennings Reid Parkhurst, of Washington, D. C., because her marriage to the Prince was a civil ceremony, that even the Sacred College itself is split into two bitterly opposing camps.

The Prince has put the case before Cardinal Vincenzo Vannetti, the Archbishop of the Liberian Basilica, and Cardinal Parocchi, the Dean of the Sacred College, who said it was infamous to deprive the Princess of her nurse under the circumstances.

Many ladies of the aristocracy openly express deep sympathy with the Princess.

MOTHER ARRESTED FOR SLAPPING CHILD

Brooklyn Woman Honorably Discharged on Charge of Policeman Who Took Her from Her Home.

Mrs. Blanche B. Canfield, of No. 145 Linden street, Williamsburg, was arraigned in Ewen Street Police Court today charged with intoxication. It transpired in the examination that she was the victim of the superciliousness and officiousness of a policeman, by name Charles Hausler, who may not hear the last of his action for some time to come.

Mrs. Canfield, who is a pretty, well-dressed, respectable woman, spent yesterday in Canarsie with her five children, at the home of friends. Her husband after his work went out to accompany her and the children back to Williamsburg.

The family took a car at Canarsie about 10 o'clock, and the Canfield children, all of them small, were irritable and whimpering after their strenuous day in the country. Occasionally Mrs. Canfield, after the manner of mothers, would slap one of her offspring.

Hausler, the policeman, was on the car and saw a chance to distinguish himself. When the Canfields left the car Hausler followed them to their home, where he put the mother under arrest.

At the station-house Hausler accused the woman of intoxication, disorderly conduct and cruelty to children. Agents of the Children's Society investigated the case to-day and established beyond a doubt that there was no ground for the accusations of the policeman.

Mrs. Canfield was honorably discharged and will prefer charges against Hausler.

WANTS HIS OFFICE AGAIN.

John Henry Asks Court to Order His Reinstatement.

Decision was reserved by Justice Fitzgerald to-day upon an application by Leslie & Miner, counsel for John Henry, for a peremptory writ of mandamus directing Commissioner of Correction Thomas W. Hynes to reinstate Henry in his position as keeper of the branch workhouse on Hart's Island.

Henry was discharged on Jan. 31 on the ground that the force of keepers was cut down. He claims he was promised reinstatement, but was never put back, and that another man was employed to perform his duties.

IS IT LADYLIKE TO SLAP A MAN'S FACE?

Lawyer's Clerk Says Actress Struck Him, but She Asserts She Treated Him as Any Lady Would Treat a Gentleman.

Genevieve Ardell, whose name off the stage is Genevieve Greenwall, shares the antipathy of the theatrical profession to process servers. When John H. Striker, a diminutive clerk in the law office of Jere Wernberg, of Brooklyn, served some papers on her at Rockaway Beach the other day he charges that she slapped his face and threw him into the ocean. Striker made the charge in Adams Street Police Court to-day when he appeared to prosecute Genevieve for assault.

The actress who performs at Morri-son's Rockaway Beach Music Hall is a statuesque young woman, to say the least. She is proud of her physical prowess. When asked to give her version of the other day he charges that she had "treated Striker as any lady would treat a gentleman."

Whether throwing a gentleman into the ocean is a ladylike demonstration is a question the decision of which rests with the magistrate.

MRS. INNES GETS DIVORCE DECREE.

She is also given permission to resume her maiden name and remarry. Justice O'Gorman also dismisses the complaint in the original suit against Mrs. Innes brought by the bandmaster.
